

Thought I would show you a visual of what a vest with only 8" shell pockets and a combination of 5" and 8" looks like. We also have, as you know, a vest with only 5" pockets. We have made all three of these designs a couple of different times.

I checked it out and I can modify the 8" shell pocket so the 5" shell will fit in the that pocket as well. I can drop the side openings and elastics down 2". The upper pocket flap, when down, will not interfere with the pocket below. There will be a lot of extra pocket, of coarse, but it will work if that is what the customer wants.
